

VinoForDinner.com Expected To Prevent Over 250,000 Erroneous Wine Purchases With Its Wine Pairing Guide And Reviews

Vinofordinner.com will soon eclipse over 250,000 food and wine pairings enabling both web and iPhone application users to effectively choose wines under 30 dollars per bottle with ease. The site works with vineyards and distributors and is expanding at a rapid pace to bring affordable and great wine to its growing consumer base. The site has experienced growth of over 250 percent since January 2009. Thanks to the growing desire for great, low cost wines and their easy to use website and iPhone application.

Catering to even the most novice wine consumer, Vinofordinner.com is revolutionizing the industry by simplifying and enhancing the casual wine experience. The site specializes in wines the average consumer can afford, find readily available, and enjoy. The site currently boasts over 500 independently reviewed wines and features clickable categories to streamline the process of selecting great wine. Consumers are looking for more value in the wine aisle and are looking for the restaurant experience at home. Armed with its iPhone application counterpart, thousands of users are enjoying the savings and ability to find great low cost wine on the fly.

Major features include detailed independent wine reviews and an extremely user-friendly interface. Their food and wine pairing differs from other sites, in that it gives specific wine suggestions based upon need, not just a broad explanation of wine types. Users can also view the entire database of wines with one click, making the difficult selection process much easier. Regardless if it's a special occasion or quiet night at home, Vino For Dinner offers tips and directs users to the perfect wine for their needs.

About the Company:

VinoForDinner.com is based in Phoenix, AZ and provides independent wine reviews and wine education for the average wine consumer. The site was designed to help the users buy the right bottle of wine each and every time. It's VINO for Dinner's goal to help everyone find great wine for under $30 a bottle, whether through the site directly or on-the-fly with the iPhone application.
